

Mariana Ruvalcaba Cruz

Through sculpture, I seek to create a visual language that transcends conventional boundaries and challenges traditional notions of reality. By merging, distorting, and manipulating the human form and other natural elements, I aim to blur the line between the tangible and the imagined, and to craft hybrid creatures that embody the complexities of my personal journey. Each of my creations serves as a metaphor for the idea of transformation, displacement, adaptation, and change.